

Germination

the process of a seed starting to grow after a period of dormancy. Moisture is required for seed germination.

